In the period from January, 1914, to July, 1921, the average hourly earnings of railroad employees increased 121 per cent, as compared with an increase of 102 per cent in other lines of industry.

On July 1, 1921, the railroad labor board ordered a decrease of 11 per cent in the wages of all railroad employees, including the train service employees, the total reduction amounting to about $250,000,000.

On May 24, 1922, the railroad labor board ordered a cut of 13 per cent, effective on July 1 next, for maintenance of way employees, composing union No. 1, a reduction of $40,000,000.

It is possible that the Supreme court decision in the Coronado coal case holding unions liable for damages and defining strikes as tortious, will have a bearing upon such legal proceedings as might be instituted against the rail unions in the event of a strike. Henry S. Drinker Jr., of Philadelphia, counsel for the Coronado Coal company, is of the opinion that organized labor will benefit from the decision.

"Now that labor unions are legally liable for damages which they cause," Mr. Drinker says, "it will be more likely that the courts would be more likely to grant injunctions, since after the commission of the act there is a ready and adequate remedy."

STRIKE THREAT OF UNIONS

By Thomas Wren.

Cincinnati, O., June 15.—(Special.)—Rail workers' officials today justified their expected strike on July 1 in a letter addressed to the United States railway labor board, in which they assert the board has failed to meet requirements of the transportation act under which the board was created.

They point out that the board has invariably opposed labor in its decisions—has put the rail workers on less than a living wage, and is forcing their children to exist below a "bare animal subsistence."

The letter is signed by officials of ten international rail organizations and is addressed to Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railway labor board. Those signing the statement were: William H. Johnston, of the machinists; J. A. Franklin, boiler makers; J. W. Kline, blacksmiths; J. J. Ryan, sheet metal workers; J. H. Noonan, electrical workers; Martin F. Ryan, railway carmen; E. P. Gable, maintenance of way men; E. H. Fitzgerald, clerks and freight handlers; Timothy Healy, stationery foremen and others; D. W. Holt, signal men; John Scott, secretary; and E. M. Jewell, chairman, of the railway department of the Federation of Labor.

Awaited Board's Decisions.

"We have been awaiting the completion of the series of recent decisions which you announced were forthcoming before making formal acknowledgment and advising you of our attitude," the statement says.

"The last decision has just received our consideration. In it you state openly that pressure of circumstances was such that you were unable to determine reasonable wages. You go even further in stating that the establishment of just wages for railway workers must await the complete satisfaction of ownership in the matter of rehabilitation and profits."

"In this decision you state, as further basis of your action, the theory that labor cannot be completely freed from the economic laws which likewise affect the earnings of capital. Clearly this means nothing more or less than the treatment of labor as a commodity whose value fluctuates according to the demand or supply of labor."

Wages Wage Structure.

"Your decisions are related to the period when intense employment has so increased the supply and diminished the demand for labor that wage rates were at an artificially low level. Consequently, your open permission to take into consideration the fact that the so-called labor market compels 'unlucky' the law of supply and demand, making an end to the orderly wage structure which has been developed in recent years as a stabilizing force of the industry."

"Railroad employees must once again look to such influence as they can wield in the labor market for escape from the unjust wage which you have sanctioned."

"In adopting these two principles as the basis for your decision you failed to take into consideration the principle that even the lowest paid railroad employees, such as section men and laborers, should receive at least a living wage."

"As a consequence, your decisions degrade these classes of employees below a level of bare animal subsistence, and reduce the earning capacity of the employees below a standard of healthful and decent living."

Called Violation of Act.

"Your acceptance of the first claim of profits, your conforming to the commodity theory of wages, your rejection of the principle that the lowest paid worker must receive at least enough to sustain his family, render your decision a clear violation of the labor provisions of the transportation act."

"You state in your most recent decision that you have not violated human standards. We are unable to reconcile this statement with your action in basing the rates of pay provided for in all your decisions upon a minimum rate of 23 cents an hour, $1.84 a day, or $563 a year. Human standards can not be adequately sustained on such a basis of compensation."

"Railroad labor costs have constantly declined during recent years. High operation costs are due to the delinquency of financial control. If the capital needs of the railroad were financed by the public and they were operated in the public interests, freight rates could be greatly reduced and wages to employees increased to the point where 'living' and saving standards of life could be maintained."

"Logic Manifestly Unjust."

"The reasoning which you advance to support these wage reducing decisions is manifestly unjust. If accepted, it would obviously mean that the labor provisions of the transportation act were a fraud perpetrated upon labor."

"We hold, therefore, without reservation, that the board has made a blunder in interpreting the intent of the transportation act—a blunder so serious as to threaten the welfare of hundreds of thousands of railway employees and their families. We cannot believe that you would deliberately violate human standards of living and expose the board to the charge of inflicting by rendering wage decisions which increase the index death rate by making it impossible for certain groups of railway employees to earn sufficient amount to provide proper food and living conditions for their children."

"And yet, this fundamental error in the interpretation of the law has been made in your decisions and we are confronted with the inequitable results."

Kernel of the Warning.

"As the matter now stands, there is no provision in the law providing for an appeal of any kind against a decision of your body, however mistaken or unfair it may be. When, therefore, there occurs a miscarriage of justice of such colossal and permanent injury to railway labor as your decisions will bring about, the only means of remedy which the injured parties have is to reject your decisions."

"This procedure is perfectly legal. While it should only be used as a last resort, our membership may decide it to be fully justified by your denial of elementary and long established rights and by the seriousness of the situation which you have created."

"Your decisions have been submitted to a strike vote of our members and we are awaiting the results of their action. Should our members decide not to accept your decision, or, in other words, to strike, we shall sanction their action, and advise you accordingly."

"We have, therefore, exhausted every possible way to secure a remedy for the unjust conditions which have resulted from the refusal of the railroad to comply with the law, and from the failure of the labor board to safeguard and guarantee us our rights under the law."

BOARD CHIEF OPTIMISTIC

Far from manifesting undue anxiety concerning the strike threat voiced by the railway unions in Cincinnati, Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railway labor board, declared last night that he was confident the present crisis could be bridged without a strike.

Mr. Hooper's statement cited as reasons for believing the situation is clearing, an indication that the railroad will abandon the system under which work is contracted out to firms not within the jurisdiction of the labor board. The statement followed:

"Amid all the mutterings of discontent and rumors of war on the railroad, the note of the peace bird is still quite audible to me."

"It is claimed as one of the insupportable rights of the railroad in its contract with the public, that it is the railroad's right to its judgment and decisions. Boards vested with jurisdiction of labor disputes are always in the line of fire."

"They All Pick on Us."

"A few weeks ago, a leading railway periodical asserted that the railroad labor board was completely dominated by the wishes of the labor organizations. Within the last few days the public has been informed that the board is blind and deaf to everything except the desires of the railroad."

"A discriminating public will find the truth at a point about half way between these two extremes."

"This whole railroad question would be easy if it were not so human. It is surrounded by a general mixup of folks wanting many different things. The railroad owners want good profits; the employees want high wages; the public demands reasonable rates and efficient service. The railroad management really desire every one of these things, and their problem is therefore a difficult one. Difficult as may seem the simultaneous accomplishment of all these conflicting results will be attained if every body will just keep 'civilized'."

Public Will Learn Truth.

"In other words, out of all this agitation the American people will finally learn the truth about the necessities of our great transportation system, the rights of the employee, and the interests of the public, and then this knowledge will be followed by correct action."

"The present situation is hopeful. There is no occasion for impatience upon the part of anybody. Neither rates nor wages are permanent, because the conditions upon which they are based are not permanent."

"It is my prediction that long before fall many of the wrinkles will be ironed out of the railroad situation. There is reason to believe the railroad will remove one impediment to good feeling on the part of their employees by discontinuing the contract system, regardless of their convictions as to its legality."

"Only yesterday the board received a communication from the Southern Pacific, giving notice that the labor contracts complained of by its employees had been time away with, and that the road had no intention of again resorting to the contracting of its labor."

"There are reasons to believe that the example will be speedily followed by other railroads. It is the unanimous judgment of the labor board that it should be."

"If the men are expected to respect the board's decisions the management must do likewise. A fair-minded public will not stand for anything else."

STRANGE RULES IN GERMANY GET TOURISTS DIZZY

Washington, D. C., June 15.—Tourists entering or leaving Germany encounter such difficulties with customs and other frontier inspectors that it is a standing joke in Berlin, reports reaching Washington declare, that the only travelers who can come and go in Germany nowadays without trouble are those who are born and those who die within that country.

German regulations are that no one may remove any articles purchased in Germany unless he can present an export permit. American tourists are warning tourists to refrain from purchasing any articles unless the merchant will obtain and deliver the necessary permit.

FRANCE PONDER'S
"DEBT HOLIDAY"
AMONG NATIONSMay Abate German Pinch
if Others Act.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—France may soon call on the conference and submit a detailed plan to the powers interested in mutually cancelling international obligations in an effort to relieve the world from chaos, economic and financial.

Some of the most powerful French leaders are in favor of drafting a specific plan for giving the actual figures of its indebtedness and making concrete offers of writing off certain claims if the others would follow suit, exactly like Secretary of State Hughes' naval reduction formally gave statistics of what the United States would do if the other nations followed suit.

Thinking that the Frenchmen are supported by the advice of influential Americans visiting in Europe, they believe that public opinion in the United States might be persuaded to grant concessions if it were proved that debtors to the United States would also make sacrifices. The reduction of armaments in order to effect economies in the budget would also be contained in such a plan.

Reparations Like Other Debts.
Despite France's insistence that reparations must be kept apart from any examinations of Europe's finances, it is no secret that every one in Paris, from Premier Poincaré down, realizes that the other capitals have long concluded that financial questions, whether reparations, or pre-war or war debts, must be interlocked and can be solved only as a whole.

The contemplated plan does not require France to abandon its reconstruction claims on Germany, but instead permits Germany to supply materials and labor if necessary to rebuild the devastated regions, thereby writing off the cash payments due from Germany and Russia in exchange for the cancellation of similar amounts from the sums it owes the United States and Great Britain.

FRANCE MAY SIT IN
(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)
THE HAGUE, June 18.—Although the French are temporarily isolated at The Hague conference pending the receipt of instructions regarding the acceptance of a place on the commission which are to be appointed to decide the attitude of the powers toward Russia, it is generally believed that France will participate.

Local newspapers point out that Holland's private investment in Russia totals a billion guilders ($600,000,000), or about $60 per capita. As Belgium and Holland, with their heavy investment, are participating, the press declares there is no reason for France remaining aloof.

While general pessimism prevails, Russian experts see hope in the proposals of Stalin, former minister of economics; Rykov, Lenin's economic expert, and Kamaneff, the Moscow governor.

Lenin's Illness Hints Conference.
The internal situation in Russia, brought about by the illness of Lenin, who now is said to have been struck mute, threaten to delay if not wreck the entire conference.

Krasin is credited with the statement when in London recently, that the change in the government of Russia betokened a swing to a more radical extreme rather than the adoption of a more conciliatory foreign policy. Krasin is rushing to Moscow in an eleven-hour attempt to convince the new government that the salvation of Russia hinges entirely upon the attitude in regard to private property and debts. Hence a modification of the Genoa memorandum is essential. Krasin is reported, however, to be very pessimistic.

Other circumstances, however, indicate that the fear that the change of government means the wrecking of The Hague conference is unfounded. First there is the evident scramble of the Soviet officials to keep their jobs. Second, even the extremists in Moscow are convinced that absolute economic collapse is certain unless the allies assist in the reconstruction.

DISCUSS FRENCH STAND
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—The extent of France's participation at The Hague after the Russians arrive June 26 was the sole subject of conversation today when Premier Poincaré and French Minister Lloyd George had lunch together.

The strained relations between Mr. Poincaré and Mr. Lloyd George and the consequent divergence are apparent when it is realized that despite the fact of the five grave problems—Russian reparations, near east, Thaurier, and the pact on which Downing street and Yusef D'Orsay have split, awaiting a solution, the premier only finds time to lunch with the prime minister during his three day visit to London.

ELECTION COUNT
REVEALS GAINS
FOR FREE STATENewspaper Attacks
Mike Collins.

DUBLIN, June 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The counting of the votes in the recent election in Dublin begins tomorrow. The results may be announced by midnight. Cork figures have not seriously modified the expert forecast of the final composition of the Dail Eireann.

The return of Robert Day was looked for, as he was recognized as the leader of the extreme labor section and was in command when the port was seized some months ago and the adherents of the red flag took over shipping authority for two days. Defeat of the two other new candidates at Cork is taken to indicate approximately the solidarity of the panel vote, an impression confirmed by the Monaghan results, which is the only other constituency yet announced.

Treaty Winning Support.
But it is evident that whatever departure from the straight ticket occurred has been in favor of the treaty side, and the defeat of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan is attributed to his refusal to recognize the provisional government, even in relation to the expenditure of money for rebuilding Cork.

Already the accusation is made from the Republican side that treaty supporters have violated the Collins-De Valera pact and Mr. Collins himself is attacked not only for his speech at Cork last Wednesday, which is generally regarded as an utterance throwing over the panel and the coalition, but for his refusal to endorse joint propaganda in the interest of the panel candidates.

The Plain People [Republican] says in an editorial:

"Quite clearly Collins' pledged word can in the future be regarded as no more trustworthy than his Republican oath."

The paper denounces Mr. Collins for his forecast of the character and functions of the new Dail, and asserts that the first duty of every deputy before he votes or speaks is to take the oath of allegiance to the Irish republic.

Says to Commune Burnings.
It also condemns reconciliation with Ulster, and answers critics of the policy of war, who argue that burning business premises really is a godsend for the firms concerned, because their business is practically at a standstill and money compensation will save them, by saying:

"These people forget that every such place destroyed swells the ranks of the unemployed and creates chaos in the enemy's camp, owing to the long period before such businesses can be restarted and the fact that compensation must be paid either by Belfast itself or the British government. The British idea of conciliation by surrender would not achieve this in a thousand years. Therefore, we say, go on with the burnings."

Sixth Death in Reprisal.
BELFAST, June 18.—Joseph Gray, one of the persons injured in the Bess Brook shootings on Saturday, succumbed to his wounds today. This made the sixth death following the attack. There has been a considerable exodus of Catholics from the Newry district in the fear of reprisals.

LONDON, June 18.—Lord Northcliffe is coming back to England to receive treatment from his own doctors. He is expected to arrive home tomorrow so that he can enjoy quiet and the attention necessary for him.

Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, who was with Lord Northcliffe in Switzerland, when asked to-night as to the nature of the trouble, said:

"Lord Northcliffe is suffering from some kind of poisoning. He had been doing too much and was much overworked and then came this poisoning, but I have not seen him since Wednesday, so I cannot say how he is now."

DEATH OF MAN
IN DRINKING BOUT
MAY BE MURDER

Moonshine and an all night drinking bout resulted in the death yesterday of Joseph Jaak, 45 years old, 2233 West 21st street, under circumstances which police believe may have been murder.

Jaak's body, stripped to the waist and lying in a puddle of water, was found on the second floor of the rooming house in which he lived. Michael Mueller, owner of the rooming house, and Mrs. Margie Goodgallis, 40 years old, keeper of the place, were held for questioning by Lieut. John Hartford and Sergt. Thomas McDonald, conducting the investigation.

LIFE FOR WIRTH
JUST ONE CRISIS
AFTER ANOTHERGrain Laws and Silesian
Loss Latest Straws.BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, June 18.—On top of a series of black events in Germany comes the report of a new government crisis. Again the coalition headed by Dr. Joseph Wirth is endangered, this time by the Bavarian People's party and other reactionary elements joined by Social Democrats.

The immediate cause of the crisis is the new grain laws, the peasants opposing the government's efforts to regulate prices for the protection of urban populations.

Other Dismal Occurrences
With the political crisis is joined such unhappy happenings as the evacuation of upper Silesia, for which Germany's flags are half masted today, with funeral services in the churches all over the country. Everywhere there is talk of the creation of a new Alsace-Lorraine, and this time the entente and not Germany is the aggressor. The Silesian loss, more than anything so far, has given the monarchists ammunition for the elections.

So has the Genoa conference failure been closely followed by the Morgan loan failure. A long list of setbacks has seriously hurt the government hold, which has never been strong because of its composition of three parties, totaling 228 Reichstagers out of a total of 469.

Reds Planning Trouble.
Hot headed extremist reactionaries, therefore, have planned more than political action, coincident with demonstrations against the Versailles treaty on June 28.

In the business world also the outlook is not bright. In many parts of the country, it is reported, certain industries, notably textiles, are under-bidden by foreigners, especially Holland and England. The uncertainty of political as well as industrial conditions, as well as the loss of Silesia, is further stamping the exchange.

Altogether, the past fortnight has brought another period of depression and uncertainty, and fear of violence.

GIRL SPURNS AID,
DIES IN FIRE WITH CRIPPLED FRIENDMinnetonka Hotel Is Scene of Tragedy.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 18.—Miss Lucy Gilbert, head of the art department of the Minneapolis public library, and sister of George F. Gilbert, Eastern banker, and Mrs. Martin B. Koon, burned to death in a fire here today which destroyed the fashionable La Fayette club at Minnetonka Beach lake, Minnetonka.

Miss Gilbert died because she refused to leave the side of her old and crippled friend. Miss Gilbert and Mrs. Koon fell two stories, locked in each other's arms, after Miss Gilbert had declined the aid of a man who tried to carry her out. Her last words were: "Get the others out. My friend is dying and I will stay with her."

Fire Starts at 2 A.M.
More than 100 guests of the club, which had been the scene of many fashionable parties a few hours before the fire, were rescued by employees, but not until after a doleful time had been endured.

The blaze started at 2 a. m. while the guests were sleeping and so fast did the flames envelope the building that many had narrow escapes. Mrs. Koon, crippled by rheumatism, occupied a room with Miss Gilbert. Miss Gilbert had succeeded in partly dressing the aged woman and herself when the bell captain was sent to urge them to hurry.

Refuses to Save Herself.
With his aid, Mrs. Koon was helped into the hall, when the lights went out. Mrs. Koon was overcome by smoke, and the bell captain urged Miss Gilbert to save herself.

"Leave us," she replied, "there are others to be saved. I can't leave my friend."

The bell captain turned to assist another woman, and before he could return the floor had fallen. Miss Gilbert and Mrs. Koon were carried two flights into the mass of flames.

BREAKERS AHEAD OF LIQUOR SHIPS THAT SUPPLY U.S.

Getting More Difficult to Evade "Dry Navy."

BY JOSEPH PIERSON.
Halifax, N. S., June 18.—For the first time the revenue forces of the United States and Canada are in close liaison against the bootleggers.

The province of Nova Scotia, holding the outpost against incoming smugglers, already is beginning to feel the first shock of the raid and the last two weeks have witnessed the capture of a few minor liquor runners. The office of the collector of the port of Halifax brookes a far different spirit from that of the officials of French St. Pierre. Gov. La Chat of St. Pierre admitted there practically were no restrictions on the free export of liquor from that port and that no efforts were made to insure that all exported liquor would reach the destination indicated on cargo manifests.

Don't Care Where It Lands.
If the given destination was Nassau, the favorite camouflage, it did not make any difference to the French whether the cargo actually reached that port or was landed on the coast of the United States or Canada. But the Canadian customs officials of Halifax require that cargoes of alcoholic liquors may be transhipped in Nova Scotia harbors only on through bills of lading, and the skipper of the vessel must provide the customs officials of Halifax with a landing certificate from the British consul at destination that all the liquor on the manifest actually has been unloaded there. Skipper violating this regulation are subject to disciplinary action.

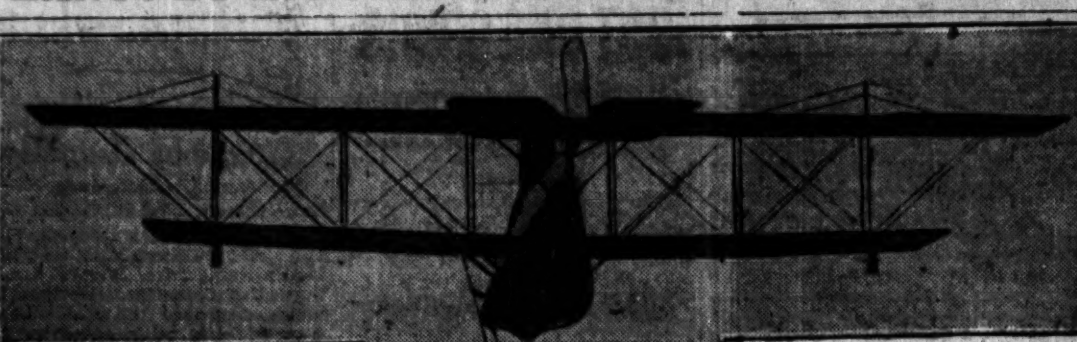

The Canadian and American revenue officials and their fleets also now are in close communication with each other. For instance, the office of the collector of this port has caused the United States revenue officials to be advised that the manifest of the schooner M. Smart, a schooner formerly owned in Digby, N. S., and with capacity of 2,000 cases of liquor, has just cleared from Halifax under peculiar circumstances.

Captain Is Well Paid.
The schooner had an extensive system of wireless installed and agents engaged a captain for $400 a month, although the usual salary of a schooner captain of that class in these waters is about $125. The activities of Capt. Bill Miller, the king of liquor runners, likewise have been transmitted to the customs officials of the United States.

The bootlegging fraternity, moreover, is worried about news from the north Atlantic coast of the United States that a swarm of revenue cutters of light draft and high speed has established itself in the coves and harbors all the way from the New Brunswick-Maine frontier to Nantucket Light.

BUTCHER OF ST. PIERRE
In the shadow of a big church at St. Pierre is a butcher, M. Roulet, his shop is largest in the little capital and with typical French economy, he had amassed much argent. Now it is an axiom as old as man that he who amasses much argent always desires much more. This feeling affects all men alike, and M. Roulet had many friends in St. Pierre with much argent and much desire for more. They conferred and formed a syndicate.

HANGS BY HIS TEETH FROM AIRPLANE LADDER

M. Roulet then boarded the steamer Pro Patria, and visited certain persons in Halifax. Capt. Bill Miller even introduced M. Roulet to the collector of the port as a prominent business man of St. Pierre seeking a market for exports. M. Roulet made arrangements with a certain gentleman and returned on the Pro Patria to his butcher shop in the shadow of the church.

Sails with Cargo.
Some days later a two-masted schooner sailed out of St. Pierre and turned west around Gallantry Head. It carried more than a hundred thousand hard earned francs in cognac and Martell rum. Three days later found it a few miles off the Nova Scotia shore near Halifax, unloading its cargo into the steam tug Mary Smith.

When the cargo had been transhipped M. Roulet asked for the argent, but it appears that the smuggler on the Mary Smith had neglected this important detail. An argument started, but the smuggler finally suggested that M. Roulet accompany the steamer to land. When the cargo was landed $2 extra a gallon would be paid for M. Roulet's personal pocket as remuneration for the denotation he had been caused by reason of the smuggler's forgetfulness. This seemed reasonable to M. Roulet. The Mary Smith steamed up Halifax harbor and showed its nose into a wharf in the harbor.

Raid by Revenue Men.
The cargo was partly unloaded when somebody whistled. The Mary Smith pulled out into the stream and steamed away, while M. Roulet had just time to dodge among the barrels on the wharf and escape a raid by revenue men, who seized the liquor. The steam tug was captured later and the balance of the cargo confiscated. With regard to M. Roulet, the yarn is a St. Pierre, and the yarn is a Halifax differ. In St. Pierre they say M. Roulet was taken prisoner and put in jail in Dartmouth and that he was later rescued. In Halifax they say M. Roulet was not arrested, although they would like to talk over the incident with him. They say in Halifax that M. Roulet probably told the jail story to square himself with the other members of the syndicate when he returned without even the argent they had entrusted to him, let alone the big profit.

ARTIST, EX-SHIP PAINTER, GETS PRIX DE ROME

New York, June 18.—[Special.]—New York has produced another artist. The Prix de Rome was awarded tonight by the New York office of the American academy in Rome to Alfred Fioegel, who was educated in New York's night schools and trained in its civic art institutes.

The day that Mr. Fioegel turned in the prize painting "Music," an allegorical picture, he was saved from eviction only because some of his neighbors had appealed for a stay to the Yorkville magistrate's court.

Fioegel began to take care of himself when he was 11; he has been a house painter, a ship's painter, a kalsomner, a stucco worker. Only in the last year has he been able to paint in the daylight, and he has learned all his art under a sputtering gas jet after a long day's work.

The Prix de Rome carried with it a $1,000 income for each of three years, free residence in the academy, and opportunity for travel.

SEEKS TO ATTACH MRS. LE BAUDY'S PALATIAL HOME

New York, June 18.—[Special.]—The possibility of losing her palatial country home, Phoenix Lodge, at Westbury, L. I., where three years ago she killed Jacques Le Baudy, eccentric millionaire, who styled himself "Emperor of the Sahara," confronts Mrs. Marguerite A. Le Baudy.

A warrant of attachment against all her property in this state was issued by Supreme Court Justice Donnelly, at the request of the National Nassau bank of Manhattan, in its suit to recover $40,000 loaned Mrs. Le Baudy.

Annulment proceedings by Mrs. Le Baudy to dissolve the marriage of Jacqueline to Roger Harris, or Sudreau, son of a Paris private detective, which are based on the irregularity of her daughter's marriage certificate, have complicated the distribution of Le Baudy's estate, estimated at $15,000,000.

ENGLAND EAGER FOR LIQUOR BAN IN PORTS OF U. S.

Would Drive Ocean Travel to East Canada.

(By Cable to The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—British shipping and commercial interests are hopeful that the liquor restrictions will effectively strangle American merchant marine, despite the government aid through a subsidy.

A majority of the English shipping magnates would welcome any laws barring vessels carrying liquors from entering American ports as such regulations would legislate American passenger vessels off the seas and permit the British liners to handle the traffic via the Canadian ports, serving the double purpose of seizing the passenger trade and building up eastern Canada.

Shipping from the St. Lawrence, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland ports would have the trans-Atlantic voyage, it is pointed out, bringing an enormous saving in coal, oil and fuel.

Americans here who are interested in the United States shipping problems are incensed at the British campaign. The average American tourist learns only by word of mouth through friends who have traveled on American ships that liquor is served on board.

The year more tourists than ever are using the American boats and the indications are that by 1923 most of the Yankee ships will be crowded to capacity owing to the favorable comments on the service which are heard everywhere.

New York, Boston, and Philadelphia surely will fight prohibition on the ships," said a well known American lawyer. "The Atlantic ports are doomed to lose a large amount of middle and far west freight business and they cannot afford to lose the passenger business to Canada. In return for withdrawal of the embargo's opposition to the lakes waterway the middle west should support the easterners' fight on prohibition on passenger ships."

$1,000,000 LIQUOR CARGO.
New York, June 18.—[Special.]—Twenty-five or thirty miles off the New Jersey coast seven liquor laden vessels are riding the waves, awaiting either a favorable opportunity to run into some port or for bootleggers to come out in smaller craft and buy up their cargoes.

The cargo value of the liquors is placed at more than $1,000,000. One vessel alone is known to have 10,000 cases of whisky, valued at $1,000,000 at bootleg prices.

John D. Appleby, prohibition agent, told tonight how he had sent one of his men to visit the large ship, representing himself as a bootlegger. The agent was offered liquor at $55 a case and shown large stocks.

Return Indictments in Klan Inquiry at Phoenix
Phoenix, Ariz., June 18.—Several indictments were returned yesterday by a special county grand jury inquiring into recent activities here of the Ku Klux Klan. Identity of those named and the nature of the charges were not divulged. The inquisitorial body has been in session a week and has heard about thirty witnesses including Governor Campbell and Secretary of State Ernest R. Hall. The investigation will be resumed Monday.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR LILLIAN RUSSELL

EAST JOINS WEST IN MEMORIAL FOR LILLIAN RUSSELL

Tribute of Love Paid by Thousands.

Paying last tributes to her beauty, her womanhood, and her patriotism, Judge Marcus Kavanagh served as master of ceremonies yesterday at the Majestic theater, where actors, clergymen, state officials, and laymen gathered to pay tribute to the memory of Lillian Russell Moore.

Among the many participating in the services were Frank Bacon, the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot, Dr. Abram Hirschberg, Lieut. Gov. Fred E. Sterling, and the Rev. Arthur Frederick Ewert.

New York Holds Memorial.
New York, June 18.—Stage stars and men and women prominent in public life joined today in paying an impressive tribute to the memory of Mrs. Lillian Russell Moore, who died at her home in Pittsburgh recently. Public exercises, attended by a large gathering, were held in the Palace theater.

On one side of the stage, which was bedecked with flowers, stood a life sized picture of the former actress, whose achievements before the footlights were followed by a career of notable public service.

United States Senator Calder of New York and Congressman Porter of Pennsylvania praised the services of Mrs. Moore to her country, and the Rev. Edward Travers of Pittsburgh, whose church she attended, told of her religious devotion.

A bugler of the United States cavalry sounded a call to worship as the exercises opened, and a detachment of United States marines fired a volley over the portrait at their conclusion.

PRICE O' RUM, BUT NOT IN U.S., BACK TO NORMAL-SEA

New York, June 18.—[Special.]—The cost of drinking intoxicants, charged with and mixed drinks even, is back to normal—aboard the steamships of the U. S. Line.

Passengers who arrived here Saturday on the America of that line displayed the new wine list, which enumerated everything in the drinkable line at greatly reduced prices. Choice French champagnes were dollars less than on former trips and fine whiskies and cocktails were cheaper by 5 and 10 cents the shot.

High grade American rye and Bourbon were priced at 25 cents. Canadian ryes and standard Scotchies, such as Haig & Haig, Andrew Usher, and King William "Vop," as well as Irish whiskey, were 20 cents.

Marked reductions were apparent in cocktails, now all the same price.

Vandervelde Abandons Defense of Revolutionists
BRUSSELS, June 18.—The Socialist newspaper Le Peuple reports the departure from Moscow of Emile Vandervelde under threat of death or physical violence from the extremists.

Marked reductions were apparent in cocktails, now all the same price.

As Permanent As They Are Beautiful

Among those who know, Almo Lamps have the reputation of being "America's most beautiful lamps." Beauty is, however, only part of their appeal. They are wonderfully well made; bases ornamented with hand carving or hand metal work; shades exquisitely tailored by deft-fingered needlewomen; fixtures especially selected for long service.

Yet, for all their desirability, Almo Lamps are surprisingly modest in price. Their sale is restricted to the better stores, where they can easily be identified by the Almo tag or label on both shade and base.

Dealers Are Invited to Our Wholesale Display
Dealers attending the Furniture Market can see the complete Almo line in our wholesale display rooms at 1435 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, or Klingman Bldg., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Here they can inspect the newest examples of artistic lamp designs; learn the methods by which dealers are building up a large and profitable business in fine lamps; and secure the selling helps which we have provided for our dealers' use. Don't fail to see this striking exhibit of "America's most beautiful lamps."

TOBACCO USERS IN SCHOOLS HIT; UPSET IN OPINION

Topeka, Kan., June 18.—Miss Lorraine Wooster, state superintendent of public instruction, is without authority to put into effect two paragraphs in a circular she had issued against the use of tobacco, according to an opinion written by Richard J. Hopkins, attorney general. The affected paragraphs of the circular read:

"Schools and colleges that permit the use of tobacco in any form by administrative heads, instructors or pupils cannot remain on the accredited list."

"Credits sent to the state department from normal schools, colleges and universities where the heads of these institutions, faculty members or students use tobacco in any form, will not be accepted for certification."

Mr. Hopkins' opinion says in part: "I am of the opinion that only the state board of education has authority to make rules and regulations governing the subjects mentioned in the state superintendent's circular. I am of the opinion that under the law there is no authority in the state superintendent to put into effect those paragraphs of the circular."

HARVEST HO! WESTWARD BLOW "GRAD" AND BO

Old Timers and New Hit
Rods and Cushions.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Trains rolling into Kansas, Nebraska and North Dakota from now until after July 1 will be loaded with both city and farm boys "bumming" their way on the rods and blinds of the cars and coaches to the harvest fields in the great grain belt.

Thousands of them are veteran harvesters, who go out every year, starting in Texas and Oklahoma at the opening of the harvest and going from field to field as the grain ripens, riding and bundling wagons all summer until the harvesting season closes near the Canadian line. Many more thousands are going out for the first time to enter the freshman class of gleaners.

What Tenderfoot Should Know.
Hundreds of them are students from universities and even high schools, or young boys and men from town and country with tender hands and little knowledge of the entrance requirements of the harvest field. With this comes the question of harvest field customs and customs—what to wear, how to get a job, how hard is the work, what wages are paid, how to avoid blistering the hands, how the beginner is to start in and avoid becoming overheated, and the danger ahead for the tenderfoot who wants to spend a summer in the stinging harvest fields of Kansas.

Old timers need no advice, but a few tips to the beginner may help. Grads "floaters" have learned many things after following the army of harvesters a few seasons, and this information will be valuable to the tenderfoot harvest hand who expects to spend this summer. Under what to wear in the harvest field, says a harvester list the following: Wear one pair of good undershorts or overalls and one pair of extra pair for change, or two pairs of khaki pants and a couple of denim shirts, strong shoes, several changes of underwear, socks, wide trim straw hat, and a bandana handkerchief.

Hard Work and Hot.
Every experienced harvester will say "Don't come to the harvest fields with a lot of unnecessary clothes. Come to work and be prepared to pitch bundles and shovel grain when it's hot, for the mercury runs up around the 100 mark and above." Wheat heads penetrate even the closest woven cloth.

On their way to the Kansas harvest field old timers leave this advice as they go: "Never flash your roll, especially when strangers are around. Send your money home as soon as possible; use travelers' checks, post-office or express money orders. Accept no money from anyone."

CONSOLIDATIONS OF RAILROADS TO BE DECIDED SOON

Washington, D. C., June 18.—[Special.]—With only a few more witnesses to be heard on the tentative plan of the interstate commerce commission for consolidation of the railroads of the southeast into a limited number of systems, the first part of the consolidation situation probably will be brought to a close within the next day or so. Then hearing will be scheduled in various parts of the United States and long drawn out sessions are in contemplation.

Hearings thus far have developed both opposition and approval of the commission's proposals. Opposition came from the Illinois Central and the Seaboard Air Line to that part of the plan putting them into one system.

W. L. Mapother, president of the Louisville & Nashville, however, gave general approval to the proposal to consolidate the Atlantic Coast Line, the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis, and the Louisville & Nashville into one system, which he believed also should include the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio, the Durham division of the Norfolk & Western, and the Charleston & Western Carolina.

CZAR'S KETTLES AND CHEF SERVE STARVING WAIFS

PETROGRAD, June 18.—[By the Associated Press.]—Pischkin, once chef of Emperor Nicholas, is now boiling rice, beans, and cocoa for hungry children in the American relief administration kitchen, which has just been opened in the former imperial palace at Tsarskoye-Selo. Three thousand children daily are being fed from the stoves and copper kettles that once cooked delicacies for imperial dinners. Several servants of the former czar are employed as kitchen workers.

British Soldiers to Honor Birthday of Haig Today

LONDON, June 18.—[United Press.]—Elaborate preparations were made today to celebrate the birthday of Field Marshal Earl Haig, who will be 61 tomorrow. Ex-soldiers' organizations, of which the field marshal is head, are preparing to do honor to the man who has sacrificed the highest honors to devote the rest of his life to their welfare.

PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

SUNK BY VOLSTEAD?

The Tribune has declared itself for an amendment to the Volstead act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and wine under regulation without the agency of the saloon. It also declares that in its belief it will be impossible to maintain the needed fast passenger and mail ships if American steamship law follows an American ship from coast to coast, into any sea into which it may steam or into any port it may make.

In the one position The Tribune is concerned solely with the interior, domestic regulations of the country. In the other it is concerned solely with its international relations, its future, its security and its well-being.

Our belief that the prohibition enforcement act should be modified has nothing to do with our conviction that it is injurious to American interests to permit prohibition to demolish American shipping by pursuing it beyond the American territorial waters.

Our critics say that The Tribune wants an extension of drinking wherever and whenever possible, and as much as possible. That is not true. As between a modification of the Volstead act affecting American territory and one exempting American shipping, putting it on an equality with other shipping, we are for the latter. It is a small percentage of American citizenship which uses ships. They would be no beer or wine making in the United States under a regulation which exempted ships.

The liquor industry is not interested in the shipping. The wet citizenship of the United States is not much interested in it. The question is one of American national welfare and the conflict is between it and the extremists who would have prohibition follow a citizen wherever he went.

The liquor interests want the ship laws raised now at this critical moment. They want to stop the service of liquor on American ships. They are stimulating their enemies, the organized drys, in congress and out, to attack the methods by which the American marine is being developed.

It is to promote dissatisfaction with prohibition that this attack is made by the wets. It is to create throughout the wet parts of the country renewed dissatisfaction and a protest against the privilege enjoyed by persons who have money enough to buy steamship tickets.

This is a wet trick. The United States government will not be in the immediate position of being a rum sleuth at home and a rum seller at sea. The American ships will be operated by American firms and they will merely be on an equality with other ships on the high seas.

It is not a question of the moral, social, sumptuary regulation of American citizens on American territory. It is not a weakening of the prohibition where it is intended to affect the lives and promote the good of citizens. Social and moral arguments made in favor of prohibition in the United States have nothing to do with this case.

It is a question merely whether the United States can maintain passenger ships under its flag. If it cannot it has made a mistake in trying to promote the peace of the world by naval limitation. It cannot afford to let its naval defenses wholly down and it will if it stops building battleships and is not permitted to develop an auxiliary service in a mercantile marine.

If prohibitionists and liquor interests destroy our peace wets we then should begin putting the armor plate on ships again. We cannot give up with both hands and be long safe at peace with nations which are our superiors in armament any time they want to use it.

American prohibition on the seas will not keep American citizens from getting drinks, but it will keep the United States from having ships.

REPUDIATING REVOLUTION.

The rejection by the American Federation of Labor of William Z. Foster's plan for "one big union" is a defeat for the revolutionist element in organized labor. "Boring from within" loses out by this vote, though it will, of course, go on. But the American wage earner is not for revolution, peaceful or violent, and the federation leadership, represented by Mr. Gompers and his associates, undoubtedly expresses the sense of labor in and out of the federation better than the Socialists and other revolutionaries who want "one big union."

The gist of the question lies in the fact that no such unification is necessary or desirable except from the standpoint of those who are dissatisfied with the present system of society and wish to weld an instrument they can use to overthrow it. Men who believe in individual liberty, in democracy as we know it, in the institutions of this republic and its principles, are not going to submit themselves to a dictatorship and centralization of power such as the "one big union" would give its bosses. Russia has had one big union which has placed an unlimited power in the hands of one man or a very small group of men. Under this rule a treasury more searching than the czar's has been maintained by the same methods of military force. Freedom of conscience, of expression, of assembly have been denied and the structure of self-supporting society has been demolished so that families and fear overshadow all Russian life. In America the organization of wage earners into one self-seeking, class conscious mass would compel a counter organization of all other citizens for the defense of their life and liberties.

The strength of the American Federation of Labor and of the organized labor movement in this country, so far as it has escaped the influence of European radical ideas, is drawn from the sources of American principles of freedom. If the labor movement departs from American ideals and principles it will lose that strength and head toward ruin. We think the rest of the nation, if that time ever comes, will not be tempted to follow.

IN THE "PITTSBURGH PLUS" WOODPILE.

The current issue of the Iron Age reveals a strong factor in favor of the "Pittsburgh plus" price discrimination against western consumers and manufacturers of rolled steel products which has had comparatively little publicity or popular attention. It is the opposition of steel jobs to elimination of the "Pittsburgh plus" practice of price fixing.

The Iron Age has claimed to be generally neutral on this subject. The jobs whom it quotes are not quoted editorially, but in the course of its report of a convention in Washington. But their comments reveal strong opposition to the elimination of the practice, to which the middle west, we believe, is now definitely committed.

One man is quoted as favoring "Pittsburgh plus" because without it a dual base might develop which would drive distributors from the present single basing point and result in instability and increase of prices. That appears to us to be a weak argument. There is no more reason to believe that instability would make higher prices than that it would make lower prices. On the contrary, if stability is maintained only through the arbitrary addition of freight rates to the present basis Pittsburgh price, it is likely that the removal of such arbitrary rates would lower prices, even if it did cause instability.

Another jobs says abandonment of the Pittsburgh base would mean that no one could tell what steel is costing competitors. That, on its face, is a weak argument. Why should they tell, if they are running their business on a fair competitive basis?

Another jobs says that it would be unfair to abolish "Pittsburgh plus" because the Pittsburgh mills have grown up under it. A similar point is made in the answer of the Jones & Laughlin company of Pittsburgh in the pending litigation before the federal trade commission. It would mean, they say, a depreciation of investment in Pittsburgh and a call for new investment in Chicago. What of that?

The wrecking of a factory is not waste if a better and more efficient factory is built in its place. If Chicago can manufacture steel more cheaply than Pittsburgh because of its advantages as an assembling point of the raw materials, it should be allowed to do so. Building of a low cost mill here to take the place of a high cost mill at Pittsburgh is a proper economic development. No such arbitrary restriction as "Pittsburgh plus" should be allowed to check it. More than that, many factories in the middle west are being closed, or are in danger of being closed, according to testimony before the federal trade commission, because of the "Pittsburgh plus" discrimination against them. That means the tearing down of middle western industry to improve Pittsburgh industry. Jones & Laughlin convict themselves by their own statement. What we want is economic production which will give this section of the country the advantage of its natural resources and position.

The fallacious arguments of the jobs are similar to all the fallacious arguments in favor of the practice. Perhaps a point which they all avoid may explain their stand. An important part of the jobs' trade is in less than carload lots. With "Pittsburgh plus" they buy by the carload with an imaginary freight rate of $7.60 a ton, less the recent decreases in freight rates, and when selling in less than carload lots charge at the higher rate of something more than $10 a ton for imaginary freight costs. Thereby they take an immediate profit of more than $2 a ton on sales directly due to "Pittsburgh plus," and added to their regular sales profit. Their interest is evident. It should close their argument.

A TENDENCY TO BE SUPPRESSED.

If the Ku Klux Klan authorizes or condones any such proceedings as the attack on the Morris, Ill., chiropractor it will have to be suppressed. High officials of the Klan have repudiated offenses of this sort and declared it is no purpose of the organization to take the law into its own hands. We can understand that mightful makers might seek cover under the name of the Klan, and there is no disposition to charge the society with acts of outsiders. But the Morris affair should be aired. If the Klan is not involved, so much the better; but if the Klan or any of its constituents is encouraging unlawful attempts at discipline it should be made known so that the law may proceed against it. The Morris affair may be merely a case of black-mail, professional jealousy, or local malice. Or it may be an expression of the notion persisting in some quarters in this country from frontier days that private individuals may undertake to impose their private justice upon others whom they do not approve. The Klan will have to free itself from the suspicion that it holds or encourages such a theory by promptly expelling any members who act upon it. America is sufficiently disreputable of law as it is. We want no society and no individual that assumes the functions of courts and supplements legal justice according to its or his irresponsible code beyond the realm of law. To tolerate that would be to invite anarchy.

Editorial of the Day

WAITING FOR A CRISIS.

(Milwaukee Journal.)

The trouble with waiting for a "crisis" in the coal supply to do something about the strike is that by that time it will be too late to save the consumer from paying. Stocks of coal on hand are gradually dwindling. Presumably a "crisis" will be reached when they are down to the danger point, or at least down to the point at which no amount of talking will prevent the man who has coal from getting about what he wants for it.

Then if something is done immediately, it will take time to replace stocks; there will be the cost of the strike; there will be extra costs for rush transportation entered in the price, and even after stocks are near normal, the extra charge will remain with us a while. If recent experience teaches anything, it teaches that.

And when a "crisis" comes, what? There will be some way out, and every one will see that this way might have been taken months earlier, and exactly the same result reached. The chance for statesmanship is to avoid a crisis and save the suffering it will bring.

SAYS SOME OLD GRONE

This is the secret hidden under youth
(That no one understands, until old age
Makes him a musty and bromide sage.
Out of our totem we shall weave all truth.

This is a thing that only wisemen deem (And they have built the thing from memories
Where are too old to find new ones of these...
Out of our sorrow, our delight shall gleam.

This is a sad, and yet a tender thing;
However old or wise, we only know.
Not where, or how, our tangled paths may go,
But that our ashes shall renew some spring.

INTO THE DARK VALLEY.

The room is stuffy—heavy draperies through which come sounds, muffled and glimmering, of a white gown attendant stands over me—water, hot water envelopes me—I choke—I am eased by the telephone in the distance—I can't get to it—nobody knows where I am, not even the city editor—a groan from the room—many attendant murmurs—"That woman isn't very gay. She begins to whine before they start"—I glance up at an internal machine of iron tubes and electric wires—I gaze down on a box of monkey wrenches and screwdrivers—I look aside at a roll of cotton-topped bottles of medicine—I shut my eyes—the internal machine descends—it twirls and turns and plinks—A hot heat, scorching, burning, throbbing, smoking heat—a twist—the machine ascends—the draperies part and a soft voice says:
"Yes, we guarantee our permanent waves, for after all, if you wear a 'palmers' $47.50, please."

DO YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT COL. DIMORE IS A LADY?

[From the treasured Evenen Amurloian.]

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARD DID MORE for the cause of woman's suffrage than any man in America.

IN WHICH WE ARE SUPERBLY VERSEKENT.

Dear R. H. L.: You are as bad as the Hartford Courant. Barlow's division was not an Seminary Ridge at Gettysburg. You are right about that. But neither was the First Corps, under Barlow, a division. Where do you get that stuff about his lack of military judgment? He put his men where ordered, and Gen. Howard came out, inspected the position, and approved of it. It was not Barlow's division that was captured by a brigade of Schimmelpenninck's. Barlow was driven, as the First Corps was driven, because he was outnumbered, but his resistance lasted long enough to save the First. The Eleventh corps was largely German. But without the Germans where would the North have got off in the civil war? Retract or apologize within a week.

T. L. The greatest authority on Gettysburg is Col. William Roscoe Livermore. His "Story of the Civil War." Vol. I, page 417, says "at about 10 a. m. forming line of battle behind the ridge (Seminary) Cutler's brigade (Wadsworth's division, First corps) advanced to the top, and found Davis' brigade (confederate) coming from the northwest."

Page 420. "Finding that, without orders, Barlow had moved his division . . . this leading connection with Schimmelpenninck's division," etc.

Page 424. "All Barlow's division was now re-creating with little or no regularity. . . . This (the re-creation) was a serious error. . . . The re-creation of the federal, and mainly due to the action of the heroic Barlow. He had posted his division with its right flank in the air . . . he had exposed his troops to precisely the same disaster they had suffered at Chancellorsville."

Schimmelpenninck was a serious reverse of a woodpile in Gettysburg for three days and nights. Where do you get that stuff about the rout of his corps. Hunt a woodpile, T. L. —CHARLOTTE DAVIS.

REPRESENTATIVE EDMONDS of Pennsylvania introduced a bill into Congress Saturday asking dire penalties on captains of all ships arriving in American ports who have permitted the drinking of intoxicating liquors aboard. But why adopt half-way measures? If a person aboard a ship is caught reading a whiskey advertisement, let him be double ironed and thrown into the hold. If he is caught thinking about whiskey, he must have nine lashes with the cat-o-nine-tails. Drinking a Martini, a Manhattan, or a gin rickey, let him be keel hauled. And if any devil is seen pouring down straight rum, gin, or whiskey, bang him from the yardarm and let the wild sea-eagles pick him up.

MY GRACIOUS! HE MUST HAVE SAT DOWN ON THIS BACK OF HIS NECK.

From the Tribune.

Paris, Ill., June 15.—[Special.]—It was reported here today that a boy wading in a creek near Denison, this country, had found, partly covered by earth and mud, the hip bone of a mastodon. The relic is said to be ten feet long and a perfectly formed and preserved shoulder blade.

Nobody knows yet how big he is, as these half-breeds ain't been able at no time to get more'n 10 ft. of him outa the water, but he must be pretty good sized, cause wunce he slapped his tail around, an' ever since then 8 white men an' 3 swedes has been missing.

WHAT CARE I FOR COUNCIL?' ASKS REV. WILLIAMSON

Will Have Naught to Do with Aldermen.

Rev. Williamson, Mayor Thompson's 10,000 a year law enforcer who gets 10,000 a year more than the chief of police, last night depicted himself before the folk of the Congregational and Methodist Episcopal churches of Mayfair as a martyr persecuted by an untruthful press and an equivocating alderman. He also formally stated his refusal to appear before a council committee to tell how he puts in his time in return for the mayor's $10,000.

"The Greatest Liar."

"During the four months I have been law enforcer," he said, "every motive and phase of my life and actions has been severely subjected to a malicious, malicious criticism. I have been misrepresented. And I may say, calling things by their right names, that this Chicago Tribune should change its name from 'The World's Greatest Newspaper' to 'The Greatest Liar the World Has Ever Known.'"

"As regards appearing before any committee for the purpose of explaining the nature of work or results of law enforcement in and through my office the only committee I have recognized up to date is the Chicago public, and the Chicago public will continue to be so. This committee of aldermen has no authority to invite me to appear. When it is legally established that I should appear before any other committee, I will be present; but not until then."

His reason for refusing to appear, he explained, was that if he were to give an account of the manner in which he conducts his work, every crook in the city would be waiting for the information with itching ears.

"As for the published reports of Mr. Albert's allegations regarding crime in his ward," he said, "I told Mr. Albert the other day that either he or the Tribune was a liar. Mr. Albert never submitted to me any affidavit until after June 1, when he gave me one, which was signed by another man. I submitted that affidavit to the police, and got a report back immediately. And while Mr. Albert submitted to me only this one affidavit during three months, I got thirteen affidavits from private citizens in that ward, and all of the cases complained of were investigated by the police."

Needs $500 More.

After giving his auditors a few pointers on the organization of crime in Chicago and on the operations of the professional bondman, the slyster lawyer, and the parole and probation, Mr. Williamson passed out his cards and urged that each person join his Chicago Law Enforcement Citizens' committee.

"I have $500 in the committee now," he explained. "We can't do business until we get 10,000 members. But when we get those 10,000 members I'm going to expose some judges and aldermen."

"Any time Anton Cermak wants a battle with me on prohibition," the enforcer remarked in making a passing comment on the eighteenth amendment, "he can have it. I'll show him a hot time."

CAUSE OF HIGH RENT. On June 14—In 1919 I was per month rent. One day in the fall I called on me quite wronging he had just had a meeting of the board of the city and that he was not paying his rent. The landlord replied paying more than the schedule rent and he should get 125 per cent for the rate and that he was to pay the janitor on that high he did, and my rent was $125 per month the first of the year. Janitors get over 8 per cent paid and, of course, are up very rent reductions.

VILLA, EX-TERROR OF MEXICO, NOW A MAN OF PEACE

Only Desire Seems to Be to Help His People.

Mexico City, June 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—Pancho Villa, the former bandit, is a peace loving, hard working, contented rancher, without political ambitions, and imbued with a sincere desire to help his people, according to an impression gained by the correspondent of El Universal who recently visited Villa at his Canutillo ranch.

Villa is described as a home loving man who rises at 4 o'clock in the morning and spends his day and the hours far into the night in personal supervision of his ranch in the state of Durango.

Villa sets Code of Morals. The one time bandit has established schools for his people, and has set up a code of morals which he enforces with the same severe discipline of his bandit days. All religious and creeds are respected at Canutillo. Liquors and gambling are barred, and every man is forced to perform his quota of work.

Villa is studying English, and so are his three children. The former raider, whose illiteracy has been proverbial, has a special tutor who each night instructs him in the Spanish language and the rudiments of elementary education.

Agriculture His Hobby. True to his word to the government, Villa is out of politics. To the correspondent he stated emphatically that he would not mix in the congressional elections of next month, nor enter the lists during the next presidential campaign. Agriculture is his hobby, and he is attempting to make his ranch a model in modern farming. Villa wishes Mexico to live in harmony with the United States.

The correspondent describes Villa as the heaven for good that he says is working in Durango, and as an example of patriotism seldom followed in the republic.

U. S. NEED FOR DOCTORS URGENT, SAYS PHYSICIAN

Pointing to America's need for more hospitals and more physicians to man them, W. A. Pearson, dean of the Hahnemann Medical college of Philadelphia, yesterday urged more youths to take up the study of medicine and more girls to train as nurses.

The appeal was made at the Drake hotel at a general meeting and informal reception which preceded the seventy-eighth session of the American Institute of Homeopathy, which formally opens this morning.

Few Graduates This Year.

"The hospitals in this country need 9,000 physicians every year," Dr. Pearson declared. "The average graduation class from our medical schools is 3,500. This year the number will be only 2,000. So every graduate is positively assured of a position upon graduation. Only 12 per cent of the nation's sick go to hospitals for treatment."

It was maintained that there are enough specialists at present, but a deplorable lack of general practitioners.

EVERY MEMBER OF STATE GUARD GETS RADIO SET

Each member of the 189th Field Artillery of the Pennsylvania national guard in Philadelphia, is to have a radio receiving set, and will be in direct communication with his battery at the army, where a powerful broadcasting station is being erected. It is declared that this will be the first military organization in the world to be so equipped that each member at his own home will be able to receive orders direct from his battery.

Faints, Falls in Theater, Injuring Three Persons

New York, June 18.—John Danaker fainted while leaning over the edge of a balcony box in a Brooklyn motion picture theater last night, fell fifty feet into the orchestra pit, suffered a fractured skull and injured two musicians, one seriously. The three were taken to a hospital.

Deficiencies in the ductless glands have considerable bearing upon criminality, said Dr. H. M. Stevenson of Baltimore, Md., a member of the institute's board of trustees. Intensive study in this field of science during the last few years has placed the mental treatment far past the experimental stage, he declared.

HOOKWORM CURE FOUND IN CARBON TETRACHLORIDE

Washington, D. C., June 18.—(Special.)—Evidence that is gradually being accumulated by medical men in various parts of the world provides a good basis for the belief that carbon tetrachloride, a cheap and common chemical, is a cure for hookworm in human beings. Recent reports from the Fiji Islands and Ceylon covering thousands of cases show practically 100 per cent of successes.

The discovery of the efficacy of the drug in removing these parasites was made by Dr. Maurice C. Hall of the United States department of agriculture, who tested it on dogs and even tried out its effects on himself. His results immediately stimulated medical men in many countries to start investigations and favorable reports are now being received by the department. In the Bogambra prison at Kandy, Ceylon, a country where hookworm is common, this carbon compound was tried on fourteen persons with marked success. Among them was a condemned criminal who offered himself as a subject for a thorough test. He was given a maximum dose of ten cubic centimeters of the drug, which removed fifty-five hookworms. Twenty-two days later he was executed. A post-mortem examination showed that all the parasites had been removed. The other convicts apparently were completely freed of the parasites by much smaller doses.

TIRED OF TALK

MRS. VINCENT ASTOR.

(By the Associated Press.)
PARIS, June 18.—"I am getting tired of denying and discussing my divorce, which has been taking place in the United States newspapers for the last five years. If the newspapers are bound to divorce me let them do it. I don't care."

This statement was authorized today by Mrs. Vincent Astor through her secretary. She is living here in a modest three story private house. Her husband came especially from the United States to see her ten days ago and spent two days with her in this house. Then he went to England to visit his mother. He was a passenger on the steamer Mauretania, which sailed from Cherbourg last night.

Offer to Take Colored Colony to Mexico Declined

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
Mexico City, June 18.—E. A. Kay, an American, in an interview with President Obregon, offered to bring 15,000,000 colored people from the United States and various parts of the world to Mexico. The president referred Mr. Kay to the minister of agriculture. The latter stated that Mexico does not wish colored immigrants on account of the ethnic problem involved.

SOVIETISM SEEN AS ONLY POWER TO RULE RUSSIA

BY EDWIN HULLINGER.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign Service.)
(Copyright, 1932, by The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—Despotism, and filled with dishonest underlings as it is, the Kremlin is the only government possible for Russia for the present. If it should fail, a period of anarchy similar to those figuring in Russian history at various times when the supreme authority crumbled, is the alternative. There is no other group in Russia today capable of taking over or holding power.

Inside of Russia I found all the oppositionists completely crushed, after four years of Red terror. Carefully and systematically the bolshevik secret service has combed the nation for possible antagonists, shot many of their leaders, imprisoned others, and kept the rest under such strict surveillance that there is only the slightest chance for any counter organization beginning.

Soviet Foes Betrayed.
Long before any movement can reach a stage of coordination, spies within their ranks have betrayed the leaders to the cheka. Just that thoroughly does the cheka permeate every class and stratum of society.
"There is no force within Russia which can overthrow the Kremlin," a professor of political economy at Moscow university said.

The Monarchists who are skilled in governing and handling the people are proscribed, their leaders disseminated world-wide, and their adherents inside Russia mostly broken in morale and hopeless. During my eight months in Russia, I failed to find anybody believing in a return of a czarist regime. Even the Monarchists admit the cause is lost for the present at least.

Social Revolutionists Crushed.

Social revolutionaries who fell because they lacked a sufficiently virile policy for the needs of the day, and disregarded the necessity of the whip, likewise are crushed. The majority of their leaders are abroad, others are imprisoned, and some are exiled in dreary east Russia.

The people themselves have ceased talking of the possibility of an internal revolt.
"But how will you continue when an economic collapse finally becomes a fact and the mines cease? Will you permit the nation to sink back into medieval primitiveness?" I asked a Communist friend close to the innermost circles of the Kremlin.

He paused and then answered pointedly: "There are two roads, possibly three, before Russia. Before that time we shall have chosen. Either a compromise may be reached with western Europe, whereby capital will enter Russia and help rebuild her tottering industries, and the success of her new economic policy will be assured by enabling the conservative elements of the government, headed by M. Krenesoff, to continue in the right trend, which will eventually take in more liberal, sympathetic, brainy elements of the opposition, or, in desperation, the armies of soviet Russia will begin a last try on the battlefields of Poland and Roumania, hoping by a military stroke to gain what diplomats have failed to obtain.

German Aid Third Possibility.

"A third possibility is permitting Germany to reconstruct Russia, which might not please the allies."

Although other Communists insisted that they believed Russia would take a chance of gaining from a general upset of European equilibrium which would be likely to follow a Russo-Polish war, the majority are convinced that it would result in defeat for the Red forces, breaking off the military force of the Kremlin, and bring the government down like a pack of cards around the leaders' heads.

Until some strong man arises and until help comes from the outside in the form of capital, Russia has no chance for peace.

LET NEWBERRY BE MICHIGAN'S ISSUE: EMERY

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 18.—[Special.]—Formal demand that Congressman Patrick H. Kelley quit the United States senatorial race so the campaign may be fought out solely on the Newberry issue will be made Monday by Maj. John G. Emery, former national commander of the American Legion, who is seeking Charles E. Townsend's berth in the senate.

This demand, long urged by Emery's supporters, follows Kelley's statement of last week to "let the primaries decide." Emery's announcement of his candidacy contained an anti-Newberry plank, and he has carried his fight through the campaign almost on this issue.

GERMANY SHORT IN DELIVERY OF COAL TO ALLIES

BERLIN, June 18.—The reparations commission has notified the German government that coal deliveries of late have been considerably in arrears of Germany's obligations, especially during June. The government will discuss the situation with the guarantee committee, which is now on its way here.

It is understood it will be pointed out to the committee that German production has greatly increased; that there is a shortage of coal for domestic consumption; that the high rate of exchange produces the importation of coal, and that the labor ministry is at present negotiating with regard to the question of overtime work in the mines.

Thirty Cents a Day Will Bring You $1,000

BY saving only thirty cents a day you will receive at the end of ten years $1,000, and in the meantime your life will be insured for the same amount under our Savings and Life Insurance Plan.

Suppose you are 30 years old. You open a Savings and Life Insurance account with a deposit of $8.60, which represents saving less than thirty cents a day for one month. You deposit $8.60 each month for 120 months, when you will receive over $1,000 in cash. If you do not live to complete your deposits, the insurance company agrees to pay your beneficiary $1,000 and the Bank will pay the balance in the savings account. At the end of the eighth year, for example, the total amount received by your beneficiary in case of death would be over $1,685.

Should you be totally and permanently disabled, the insurance company agrees to pay you $10.00 a month for the rest of your life; you would not have to make any more deposits, and when you die your heirs would receive the full face amount of your policy just the same. The rates vary according to your age, and you may save any amount from $1,000 to $25,000 by depositing a proportionately larger amount monthly.

LUXURIES HAVE PLENTY; FOREIGN MISSIONS STARVE

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 18.—(Special.)—Baptists can afford automobiles, face powder, and silk stockings, but they don't seem to have money enough to keep the foreign missionary society from having a deficit.

This was the statement of the Rev. A. W. Beavan, pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist church, Rochester, N. Y., who preached this morning the annual convention sermon of the Baptist Northern convention. The Cable Auditorium, said to seat 10,000, where the sermon was delivered, was filled.

Similar audiences were at the auditorium at the Young People's meeting at 2:30 when the Rev. W. B. Abernethy, Washington, D. C., President Harding's pastor, and the Rev. Jas. Taylor of China were speakers, and in the evening when addresses were made by the Rev. Cornelius Woolfkin, New York, Rockefeller's pastor, and the Rev. J. H. Francis of Los Angeles. It was announced that the afternoon program was sent by radio throughout the United States and 300 miles out to sea. A choir of 1,500 made up of singers from Indianapolis of several denominations, sang.

It was announced that the choir would go to Chicago on July 16 by special train and would sing there. If the front line of foreign missions is drawn back, Dr. Beavan said, let us not deceive ourselves, the same receding tide will leave our home churches stranded. If the missionary program goes down the war program will go up, the world will become a charnel house and hell will break loose. America never needed an inoculation of moral principles as much as now.

"The morals of our country is going down," he continued. "There are good people who laugh at the violation of the eighteenth amendment and who can see incendiary fires and business forced into failure without being disturbed. "When we see the devil having his own way in foreign lands and in our country we ought to have denominational unity. "If after we get home we chuckle over our theological debates and say we won, or, in depression, say we lost, then we all have lost."

While Dr. Abernethy was speaking at the afternoon meeting he described the achievements and the wounds of Col. Craig of the Red hospital, Washington.

"Do you hear, Col. Craig," Dr. Abernethy called out, seeing the radio receiver in front of him. "Do you hear what we are saying?"

"I think he is hearing," Dr. Abernethy then said to the audience, "for he has a radio at the hospital."

Dr. Abernethy then continued:

"The secret of life is in learning how to adjust oneself with those around you, with your circumstances in life and with God. I would just like to meet the person who invented the idea that if one becomes a Christian he can be good, but he can't have any fun."

TARGETS OF JOB HUNTING SOLONS FIND A FRIEND

Washington, D. C., June 18.—(Special.)—An examination by the National Civil Service Reform league of the records of the civil service commission has disclosed that of the 138 treasury department employees whose dismissal is asked in a memorial said to have been signed by 150 Republican members of congress eighty come under the protection of the civil service law.

These employees may not be removed unless furnished with a statement showing the reasons for their dismissal and given an opportunity to reply. The records show, according to the league, that thirty-two entered through civil service examination before Wilson took office in 1913; eleven before 1916; two as early as 1910.

Three were appointed in 1922 to positions not under the civil service. Five of the names given do not appear in the commission's records, indicating resignation under the present administration. Four of those listed resigned some months ago.

The record of Robert C. Tracy, one of the fifty-six not classified in the civil service list, is typical of many of those examined, the report says. "It shows Tracy entered service as a messenger boy in 1905 at $300 a year. He remained continuously in government employ, working up through various grades to his present position, senior clerk in the bureau of internal revenue, at $3,000 a year.

"The excellent records of many of the employees named in the petition, coupled with the fact that many of them have stated that they are staunch Republicans, and, finally, the reputation of the whole affair by Secretary Mellon, thoroughly discredits the efforts of the members of congress who signed the petition to reward the 'faithful' who are looking to them for rewards."

JEWISH WOMEN OF WEST SIDE TO PLAN FOR OPERA

A meeting of the executives of the west side Jewish women's club will be held tonight in the home of Mrs. L. L. Greenberg, 3403 Douglas boulevard. Committees will be organized to dispose of tickets for the open air opera concerts starting at Cuba park July 13 under the auspices of Ramah lodge, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, to aid war orphans in eastern Europe.

Mrs. A. B. Seelenfreund, who recently returned from a tour of war devastated countries, will tell her experiences. All war aid organizations are invited to send representatives.

There will also be a meeting of the men's committee tonight at the Covenant club. Leonard J. Grossman, president of Ramah lodge, announced yesterday that 20,000 tickets have already been distributed.

BE RIGHTEOUS IN BUSINESS, N. U. SENIORS WARNED

College Men U. S. Hope, Bishop Asserts.

"Not until business is pervaded with the spirit of righteousness and absolute integrity can it be on a permanent basis. You graduates in commerce, many of whom are destined to become leaders in our industries, should be depended upon to put and keep the country on that basis."

So declared Bishop Thomas Nicholson, who delivered yesterday the baccalaureate address to the graduating class of Northwestern university. The exercises were attended by 4,000 persons, with the members of the graduating class, in caps and gowns, occupying the foreground, in Patten gymnasium.

Points Modern Evils.

Taking for his text Exodus 4:2, "What is in thine hand?" Bishop Nicholson made a plea for truth and righteousness in all walks of life and called attention to certain evil tendencies in modern life.

"The great problem of the present generation is to raise the moral and spiritual life of the people to a level as high as that of their commercial and intellectual life," he said. "It is dangerous to believe that our public officials are corrupt, that every man is selfish. The young people of today believe this is so. Another generation will make it so. Today America's heart is sound. Her conscience must be kept strict."

College to Help.

Young men and women of today have the greatest opportunities ever given to mankind, he said, and the half million college bred men and women will surmount every obstacle.

Commencement activities at the university will be terminated this morning with the commencement exercises proper, which will start at 10:30 in the Patten gymnasium. Former Gov. Chase Osborn of Michigan will deliver the commencement address and the degrees and diplomas will be conferred.

Middle West Episcopal Leaders to Meet Here

Representatives from several middle west Episcopal dioceses will discuss methods of obtaining publicity within the parish at their conference, which will be held here June 23. Day sessions of the conference will be held at Trinity church, Michigan avenue and 24th street. In the evening a meeting under the direction of the Rev. Robert F. Gibson, executive secretary of the department of publicity, will be held in the diocesan headquarters, 180 North Wabash avenue.

The drama touched upon the development of education from the primitive state to modern times and closed with scenes from the history of the college. The story of the drama was written by students. ## GRAIN TRADERS EXPECT LOWER WHEAT PRICES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain trade generally is looking for wheat values to move irregularly lower. There will be plenty of bulges and breaks of 2c or 3c, numerous shifts in time and an increasing disposition to go slow on the buying side until they see the effect of the new movement about to commence.

There is a general lack of confidence among holders, although there are more people in the trade and throughout the country who believe that prices are about low enough, but they are not sufficiently confident of their opinions to back them with substantial buying orders.

There has been heavy liquidation by bulls, and a large short interest created. The covering of the latter has daily assisted in rallying prices after all weeks. New low levels on the present downturns were witnessed on several days last week, followed by sharp rallies, all of which met increased selling pressure, while on the breaks the market had good support.

Crop Scare in Winter Wheat.

Hot weather over a large part of the winter wheat sections, particularly in Kansas and Nebraska—in the latter state the temperature ranging from 90 to 104—has undoubtedly blighted wheat to some extent. In parts of Kansas there has also been injury by extreme heat, particularly in western sections, where the plant did not germinate until February. Kansas estimates are, as usual, varied and range from 117,000,000 to 148,000,000 bu, against 128,000,000 bu last year.

Indications are that the July government report will not show more than the 100,000,000 bu of winter wheat suggested in the June returns, while in the northwest the spring wheat promise has improved, having received good scattered rains within the last few days.

In Europe the promise is for about 10 per cent less than last year, while in the southern hemisphere latest information received by the department of agriculture suggests a crop of 715,000,000 bu, or 101,000,000 bu more than last year, compared with the pre-war average of 633,000,000 bu. Most of the excess over last year is in India, which has a good crop. A leading factor that has exerted a depressing influence on grain values is the excess of supplies of old wheat beyond all trade expectations, and it is evident, in view of recent developments, that both the carry-over and the crop last year was greatly underestimated, as old wheat continues to come to market in the southwest in liberal volume.

Wheat Harvest Is On.

Harvesting of new wheat is under way and a movement is at hand which is expected to increase hedging pressure in all markets, necessitating a greatly increased buying power to sustain values

United Fuel Gas.

G. S. B.—The United Fuel Gas company produces, wholesales and distributes natural gas, oil and gasoline. It has an authorized issue of $15,000,000 of 6 per cent bonds, of which $3,388,000 are outstanding in the hands of the public, $3,000,000 deposited under the company's 7½ per cent secured bonds, $1,488,000 held in the treasury and $877,000 retired. These bonds are secured by a first mortgage on the entire properties, given a book value of over $8,000,000, or more than four and one-half times these bonds. Net earnings available for interest for five years to Dec. 31, 1921, before taxes, averaged over $5,300,000, or over seven times total annual interest charges on the entire present funded debt; and for 1921 such earnings were four and three-fourth times such annual interest charges. The bonds are well secured and have a wide margin of safety. They are a business man's investment.

Brief Answers.

R. B.—The Elmira and Williamsport railroad first 4s are due Jan. 1, 1920. They are a first lien on about seventy-four miles of road and are outstanding at the rate of $15.013 per mile. They are guaranteed by the Northern Central railroad and were assumed in 1914 by the Pennsylvania. They are a high grade conservative investment.

around the present level. Unless the latter is greatly enlarged and confidence revived, it will take a great deal of support to hold wheat at $1 to the farmer, and he may have to take less. It is to be hoped for their benefit that they will realize that figure or more but with a crop of about 850,000,000 bu there will have to be a greatly increased foreign demand to dispose of our surplus in competition with Canada, Australia and Argentina should they have good crops. Russia is not expected to be an exporter this season, which should help all the exporting countries.

Export Buying Heavy.

Export buying of wheat last week absorbed more than 5,000,000 bu at the low premium of the season for hard winters. Large previous sales of new wheat for export are expected to take a good percentage of the receipts during July and August. Most of the cash wheat taken in last month has been sold by the leading holders and a good decrease in stocks is predicted for the next few weeks. July wheat closed Saturday at $1.11½, 1.11½, September, $1.15½, 1.15½; December, $1.18½, 1.18½, showing losses of 4c on June and July, 2c on September, and 1½c on December for the week. Prices follow:

BANK OF ENGLAND SURPRISES WITH DISCOUNT SLASH

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1933, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—A reduction in the discount rate by the Bank of England to 3½ per cent, the lowest point the rate has touched since just prior to the war in 1914, when it was at 3, came as a surprise, albeit a most welcome one to many persons, and gave the faded stock market a much needed fillip for a buoyant close. Until Thursday morning the tone was irregular, with considerable all-around selling pressure. The regular fortnightly carry-over was provided for in a recent exchange ruling. This also was greatly eased by the announcement of money being easier, and only in a few cases were carry-over charges at all stiff.

War Loans Brisker.
War loans took the lead in the recovery of government issues. Consols rallied briskly immediately afterwards, and Indian issues, which had been smacked down on the sudden appearance of the 115,000,000 Indian 5½ per cent loan, also finished with a much better appearance.

Foreign governments, after a dismal start, became more cheerful, despite a constant lowering tendency. Knowledge of Poincaré's impending visit to London, and the possible resultant disagreement over European economic problems.

Industrial boomed upon the tangible evidence of a speeding up in the trade revival which the bank reduction offered, home issues generally advancing slightly but steadily. There was little interest in textiles, which just now are more or less dormant though not at all unstable. Courtlands were dealt with on an extremely wide advance, closing strong. Hudson's Bay was benefited by the satisfactory year-to-year report showing an annual dividend of 45 per cent, against 40 last year.

Buying Progresses.
A partial termination of the engineering lockout, whereby 100,000 workers were idle three months, failed to produce the expected pronounced upward movement in iron and steel, though throughout the list practically every item advanced slightly. Buying especially was noticeable on the last day. The reason for no great advance is that quiet but solid buying has been progressing steadily during the period of depression.

Oils, together with the few other sections of the market not showing stiffening. Business was restricted. Mexican Eagles, after a slump, recovered on a bear closing before the dividend announcement and Agvis finished with a fair appearance. Rubbers were indifferent, though fairly optimistic at the close. The demand for Linget caused the price to advance, which reacted sluggishly. Rubber trusts and Java investments firmed slightly ahead. Business here was limited to Asia oils.

Rails improved after an early setback, prices closing at the top. Shipping was again in favor, banks were inactive, and insurances were generally harder.

BANKERS COULD REBUILD WORLD, HENDERSON SAYS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1933, By The Chicago Tribune.)
LONDON, June 18.—The London bankers' committee, working through the league of nations, could reconstruct the devastated regions, said Arthur Henderson, M. P., addressing a conference of national organizations at Highfield today.

"The fantastic relations of debtor and creditor are created by the war," he declared. "The most dreadful aspect of the situation is the starving population, needing the most common necessities of life, while masses of unemployed are awaiting an opportunity for supplying these urgent needs."

"Regarding the reparations business, the instincts of bankers might rescue us from a make believe supreme council. The bankers lead us to believe there would be no more talk of an invasion of Ruhr. Genoa failed, and British labor is not optimistic of The Hague, and its skepticism is justified, when it has learned that the political committee at The Hague expects to establish European peace without changing the treaties."

"The difference between British labor and Russian communists is the difference between democracy and dictatorship. The British believe Socialism is coming step by step, but they exclude expropriation of property without compensation."

SPECULATING FOR
FOR STOCKS' DROP

The New York Times.

New York, June 18.—(Special.)—On the face of things, the last week's drop in the stock market has no particular significance, except as proving that the determined speculation for the rise, first by the general public and then by speculative outsiders, has been brought to a halt.

The mere fact of sharp general reaction in prices following a prolonged advance is not in the least unfamiliar, even when the financial and business situation continued to move favorably. Wall street has not forgotten how the rise of ten points or more in the stock market during the early spring of 1931 and 1932, for instance, was followed in the summer by vigorous reaction, but how the advance resumed in an even more emphatic way in the autumn.

Not Necessarily So Now.

Such precedent naturally does not prove a similar result to be in store for the stock exchange this year. Outside events will play their part in determining the market, as they did in those other years. It is illustrated, however, the well known fact that a stock market which advances in anticipation of either political improvement or business revival, is always apt to go too far in the "disinfectant" process, thereby necessitating wholesome reaction in the market.

No doubt such reaction has on occasion turned out to have itself anticipated an unfavorable change in the general situation. But it is also a well known fact in Wall street's history that some of the stock market's most sudden and violent setbacks have occurred in years when the sweep of financial and industrial revival went on without interruption.

London Bank Rate Blush.

Last week's drop in the market's speculative impulses may simplify the situation in another way. Thursday's reduction of the Bank of England's discount rate of 4 per cent, when our own Federal reserve bank was retaining the 4 per cent rate of last November, showed a somewhat anomalous situation. Bank rates are not bound to follow the open market in an extreme decline.

The London bank, it is true, has at times in the past kept its rate as low as 1 per cent consecutively during a period of two and a half years (that was between 1894 and 1896), but even then in the prolonged financial depression which was prevalent, Lombard street's rate for three months' bills stood for long intervals at less than 1 per cent.

While, however, the bank rate does not traditionally have to match the open market, it is not customary to keep the rate wide a margin between the two. That without only block the rediscounting process when it might properly be resorted to, but it may easily turn the profit of a central bank into an actual loss, and what in the economic way is more important, it may prevent that bank from exerting a useful influence on the general market by advancing its rate when the open market has gone as low as to stimulate unwholesome speculation.

One Argument Removed.

In the existing case, the past week's reaction in nearly all speculative markets has removed one argument for maintenance of a reserve bank rate so high as to be out of touch with the general money situation. This argument was the fear that further reduction might serve only to provide extravagant speculation.

But if the spirit of speculation has itself abated for the season, it might be for adjusting the relation of rediscount rates to the general position of affairs would seem to have arrived. Whether, if reserve bank rates were to be lowered to 3 or 2 per cent this summer, it might possibly be found necessary to mark them up again in the supposable case of an active autumn trade and excited speculative speculation, is a problem which needs by itself.

No Influence on Exchange.

In older times, the present disparity of money rates in London and in New York would have exerted strong influence on exchange rates, moving them against the market with the lower rate. No such influence is traceable today. It has not been assigned by any one as the cause of last week's reaction in sterling to a rise of 1 cent in the pound below the seasonal highest.

What seems to be the meaning of exchange market movements, nowadays, is that a rise in the general level indicates favorable economic conditions in the foreign countries concerned, including a better balancing of their export and import trade and a movement of American capital into their investment markets. Upward movements, therefore, are the result of action and reaction natural to speculative markets, indicate hopes or doubts of the European political situation.

What Week Indicates.

That last week's fluctuations should have been narrow and unimportant in international negotiations. Contrary to what had been expected, the German government paid the agreed reparations in full last Thursday, June 16, notwithstanding the discussion of a foreign loan; also it gave some definite signs of pursuing the program of international reform.

Strike Over in Mexico City.

Mexico City, June 18.—Following conferences between the men and the employers, the strike of federal district railway employees seems to be about over. The strikers have yielded on almost all the important points. Troops and police are giving protection to railroad shops and factories, allowing them to resume work. With police protection the bakeries are operating again and bread is plentiful.

From letter of Mr. C. F. W. Wetterer, President of the Company, we summarize as follows:

BUSINESS

Columbus Electric and Power Company (formerly Columbus Railroad Company), a Georgia corporation, has acquired the properties of The Columbus Power Company and the properties and all the capital stock of the Gas Light Company of Columbus. This consolidates the companies which operated successfully for many years under control of Columbus Electric Company. The properties include hydro-electric developments of 32,500 horsepower and undeveloped water powers with a further capacity of 50,000 horsepower. This company does the entire electric lighting and power, street railway and gas business in the City of Columbus, Ga., and vicinity and in the adjoining towns of Phenix City and Girard; also the wholesale power business in West Point, Lanette, La Grange, Hoganville, Trimble, Grantville, Moreland and Newnan. This is an important cotton manufacturing center with a population of about 100,000.

SECURITY

These bonds are a direct obligation of Columbus Electric and Power Company and the first and refunding mortgage by which they are secured covers all property now or hereafter owned by the Company. This mortgage in the opinion of counsel is a lien, subject only to $3,625,000 underlying closed mortgage 5% bonds on the property, including the power stations and transmission lines acquired from The Columbus Power Company; and is a first lien on the retail electric light and power distribution system and the railway properties; and is also a first lien on the entire capital stock of the Gas Company, which has no indebtedness. The aggregate value of the combined properties is estimated at about $12,000,000, divided approximately as follows: 75% in the power properties, 20% in the railway property and the retail electric light and power distribution system and 5% in the gas property. Additional bonds may be issued only under the careful mortgage restrictions specified in the letter referred to.

Under an Act of Congress of the United States and of the Legislature of Porto Rico, the good-faith of the people of Porto Rico is irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal and interest of this issue.

The Treasurer of Porto Rico is authorized and empowered: to collect all taxes for San Juan, to withhold such sums as may be necessary for the payment of principal of these bonds, and to create a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds at maturity until such time as the principal and interest shall have been fully paid and to forward such principal and interest payments to the fiscal agent as the same fall due.
